Two things I heard of yesterday - that Sir L. B. Mason had arrived in Wellington - and that Sir D. Selwyn had accepted Sir G. Grey's offer.

I hope to send you a few papers with this - if he will have spared any.

Could you fix some day next week when I could see you in your office. - I have been long waiting, but without wishing to intrude, or to stop in the way, whether what business may be more important, any day shall suit me.

My dear Sir,
Yours truly
W. Colenso

P.S. I don't think there can be much real analogy between our floods & droughts - and those of Australia; the difference of latitude, of size of countries, of interior (as far as it means) or of - wants has all such; still (as you observe) there is the apparent one. W.C.

Did you notice in "Independent" of 4th inst. (which I saw at 11 o'clock) how difficult they had the wind at Wellington on Sunday & Monday last? While the bar. there indicated a fall such fell not at W.P. W.C.
