My dear Sir Donald

I have been unable to start to get as far as your house, & to-day find my rheumatism so bad that I think it would be imprudent to go out for fear of disabling myself for work to-morrow.
I was very sorry to hear of your dear illness but was glad what relief Douglas's telegram - and I hope from what I have heard since I am glad that you will very soon be all right again.
