

4 pages written 29 Apr 1874 by Sir Donald McLean in Sydney to Sir Julius Vogel

4 pages written 29 Apr 1874 by Sir Donald McLean in Sydney to Sir Julius Vogel

purchased £20 or £30,000 for purposes specified in his father's will - I mention this to show that it is not likely that many will be on the market, so that the time for floating our debentures is opportune. New South Wales is not likely to be on the market for some time; Queensland may come back again by next July or August. At present we are the only colony in possession of the Sydney market.

- New Zealand -

The Colony is growing in public favour, but its past native difficulties, various land laws and absence and absence of frequent communication place it at a disadvantage as compared with Queensland. The Californian service when properly established will remove many existing prejudices.

Cape strongly urged the issue of short dated debentures not to exceed three or at most five years, after pointing out that changes of the terms on which debentures had been already placed might be injurious to the credit of the colony, we agreed that an adherence to the 4% would be preferable to any change; and, from other reliable sources, I gather that 4% from being better understood, will float better than 4 1/2% with 30 years currently redeemable after

4 pages written 29 Apr 1874 by Sir Donald McLean in Sydney to Sir Julius Vogel

Five years on giving Sir months notice - Cape offered to negotiate with the Bank of New South Wales - I authorized him to do so at 8 7/8%: He declined saying it was no use trying at any figure above 8 6 and that our debentures would have to yield to a fall of 2 P.C. below succuland.

I told him our securities were so high at home and constantly improving that I could not place our policy at such a disadvantage.

I deem it advisable now to wait the issue of the advertisement before entertaining any private offer, at any rate for a less sum than £200,000, as it might prejudice ^{future} negotiations.

Ralston I have had two interviews with, and possibly to the extent of £50,000 I may be able to do business with him if the whole amount is not tendered for; by his letter herewith you will see he expects 5 P.C.; but I have seen him since and believe that was merely a feeler.

Wentworth being absent in the country, I told him I was not prepared to make any offer until I consulted with him, but that some of our debentures would be shortly placed on the market.

I did this the day before the notice was published, yesterday the 28th. I called on the 27th thinking he might take an offer of £200,000 at 4 per cent, but he

4 pages written 29 Apr 1874 by Sir Donald McLean in Sydney to Sir Julius Vogel

