have been specially mentioned - I am quite certain that the Govt would not tolerate such conduct as they are reported to be practising - and you will excuse me, I know, for calling your own attention to the matter. I think you will find that the Civil Service Act requires that officers of the General Govt ~~shall~~ shall not interfere either one way or another at elections beyond giving their votes for or in favour of such Candidate as they may prefer - O'Rourke & Deignan have determined to see yourself & boys on the subject.

Yours faithfully
John Williamson
